Odds Zip Evens

ON Saturday, Sept. 13, high school students of Appomattox County dating back into the 50's held the first Alumni football game ever held in the history of Appomattox. All the odd number graduating classes combined to take on the even number graduating classes.

Before the game got underway a warm thank you was passed to the 1,000 or more spectators showing up to view in some cases husbands and sons bounce into action at Bragg Stadium.

Principal Cecil B. Tillery announcer of the game, extended another thank you to the man who was responsible for the game, Mr. Gordon Bragg, former coach of the old Appomattox Rebels.

In the first and second periods of play it was give and take and finally in the third quarter from five yards back, Coach "Picky" Williams rushed across scoring the first of two touchdowns for the Odds. The Evens, all way through the game battling for a touchdown, were unsuccessful. With the Odds still charging, Williams broke several tackles and leaped across scoring the last six points of the game making a total of, Odds- 12; Evens-0.

Both teams having much respect for the other marched across with sore muscles and warm handshakes to their fellow friends and neighbors.

Each class of Odds and Evens proved they still had that old Appomattox County High School spirit from way back. Tillery added "No matter who wins, Appomattox will come out on top." The game was a big success and will probably be the pioneer for many Alumni games to come.

Jehovah's Witnesses Hold Convention

"What is the Kingdom of God?", P. A. Allen, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses, asked an audience of 1482 gathered at E. C. Glass High School yesterday. Allen was the featured speaker at the semi-annual convention. This question was raised during a Bible lecture entitled, "How the Kingdom of God Affects You." In answer to the question Allen told the audience, "In the Holy Bible the kingdom of God is described as being a government in heaven with a heavenly king, Jesus Christ. And the Bible foretells that its rule will extend to this earth within our generation to transform it into a paradise of peace and happiness. The kingdom can affect us for good!"

Discussions, demonstrations and other Bible lectures characterized the two-day training session.

Regularly scheduled meetings at the local Kingdom Halls will resume this week. The public is invited.
